

EMOTIONLESS, BEATTIE ATONES FOR HIS CRIME

Erring Young Man Goes to Chair Without Tremor

DIES IN ONE MINUTE

Current Turned On at 7:23 This Morning—Makes a Statement

Sustained by that wonderful nerve that has characterized his days of incarceration while under sentence of death, Henry Clay Beattie, Jr., this morning at Richmond, Va., paid the toll of life for the murder of his wife. Making a statement beforehand which is believed to be a complete confession of his crime bearing the sympathy of thousands and condemned by thousands more, the wayward young man marched to his doom without the least trace of emotion and took his final plunge into the unknown without a tremor.

Beattie's execution occurred at 7:23 this morning. At that hour he was placed in the electric chair, the current turned on and in a minute he was pronounced dead. Members of the family claimed the body and will inter it in the family plot in Maury cemetery, South Richmond.

The formalities preceding the execution were apparently more affecting to the spectators than to young Beattie. The warden of the penitentiary read the warrant ordering his death, while the doomed man calmly listened. He had said: "If I have to go, the sooner it is all over the better," and apparently he clung to this conclusion.

For a few minutes Thursday Beattie broke down and it was feared his remarkable nerve and stoicism were about to desert him. This was when he took leave of his father and brother, Douglas. When the parting came the son laid his head on his father's shoulder the other gripped that of his brother. But he recovered quickly. Another affecting scene came when he took leave of his sister Hazel. The prisoner professed his complete conversion and said he had no fear that his peace was made with God.

Beattie's career was remarkable while it lasted. After his marriage his associations with Beulah Binford are said to have brought on trouble which resulted in his murder of his wife while out automobiling. The trial held an intense interest to the whole country. After his sentence efforts were made to have the death sentence commuted by Governor Mann, but without avail.

Rev. Cherney In Shanghai

Former Valley Minister and Wife Among Those Who Had to Flee in China

Among those who are in the zone of the revolution in China are Rev. and Mrs. J. A. Cherney, formerly of Monessen, who are doing missionary work. A cablegram states that all the missionaries of the American Baptist Foreign Missionary society stationed in West China, with the exception of Dr. and Mrs. William R. Morse, who are remaining at Chung Kinf, have either arrived at Shanghai or are on their way to that city. Among the latest arrivals at Shanghai are Rev. and Mrs. Cherney. Rev. Cherney held the pastorate of the Monessen Baptist church for a time and later with his wife went to China. He was reported killed a year or so ago in an uprising but this was later proved false. He is well known here.

MAY GET ANOTHER CARRIER

Inspector Conducting Inquiry Into Postoffice Matter

GOING OVER THE ROUTES

That the efforts of Postmaster J. E. McCordle to improve the free delivery service in Charleroi by securing another carrier have not been in vain, is attested by the visit of Postoffice Inspector H. H. Williams to the postoffice this week. While Inspector Williams is on his annual tour of inspection he is taking up the matter of an additional carrier and considering the advisability of the appointment of one.

Today Inspector Williams is going over the routes of the four carriers learning from personal observation of their work. He is instituting a careful inquiry into the needs of the postal service here.

It may be, Inspector Williams says that the postoffice needs a new carrier for the year around or that it needs only an auxiliary service. Whatever it does need it is going to get. An auxiliary carrier is one who is employed only at the busiest periods of the year. During the remainder of the year the regular men do the work. Judging from former years, the carrier force is entirely inadequate during the holiday season when mail matter to be handled is not only exceptionally large but the bad weather makes the work tedious. In the summer the mail matter is light and can be much better handled.

Inspector Williams stated that the postal savings bank here was in good shape and that there is a fair deposit.

CHARLEROI MAN NOT GUILTY OF CHARGE

Costs Placed on Prosecutor in Embezzlement Case Having to do With Prudential Life Insurance Company

This morning the jury in the case of Edward Strausser of Charleroi who was tried at Washington charged with embezzlement by the Prudential Insurance company, brought in a verdict of not guilty and placed the costs on the private prosecutor. The case was a hard fought one, Irwin & Wiley representing the Prudential Insurance company in addition to District Attorney Acheson, who appeared for the Commonwealth. Strausser was represented by D. M. McCloskey of Charleroi. Lyon Nowochick, a coal miner was convicted of changing coal checks from one wagon to another in the mine and was sentenced to pay a fine of $100 and costs and serve one year's imprisonment in the workhouse. Stanley Pager, a miner employed near Burgettstown, also drew a sentence in the workhouse for six months, in addition to a fine of $1 and costs. He was found guilty of assault during a drunken row in which he became involved. But two cases remained for trial this morning which will terminate the November term.

EVENING TRAIN TO ARRIVE HALF HOUR LATER BY SCHEDULE

New Time Table To Go Into Effect on Sunday Along the Monongahela Division-- Other Changes to be Made

When the schedule along the Monongahela division Pennsylvania railroad goes into effect Sunday a number of changes in the time of trains will be effected. There will be one important change, that of the evening train which has been arriving here at 5:50 from Pittsburgh. This train will henceforth arrive here at 6:31, the same as it did last winter. Changes in the northbound trains will be as follows:

Train due here at 9:16 a. m. to arrive at 9:10; train due at 10:34 a. m. to arrive at 10:39; train due at 12:36 p. m. to arrive at 12:33; train due at 5:53 p. m. to arrive at 5:41; train due at 8:23 p. m. to arrive at 8:28.

Changes in the southbound trains will be: Train due at 6:32 a. m. to arrive at 6:28; train due at 7:58 a. m. to arrive at 7:53; train due at 9:59 a. m. to arrive at 9:51; train due at 11:01 a. m. to arrive at 11:00; train due at 5:51 p. m. to arrive at 6:31; train due at 9:09 p. m. to arrive at 9:04.

There will be two changes of Sunday trains. The northbound train now due at 12:23 will arrive at 12:19 p. m. and the southbound train due at 8:48 will arrive at 8:43 a. m.

There is a big change in one of the Rices Landing branch trains. One leaving Rices Landing at 1:55 in the afternoon will run just one hour later in the afternoon.

The change of the evening train from Pittsburgh was made to satisfy the belated shoppers and theatre goers who wish to come home after the matinee. Last winter the train was run on a similar schedule and changed in May to 5:51. This train has been leaving Pittsburgh at 4:25. By the new schedule it will leave at 5:15.

Instead of Bucks, it was a county in the northern part of the State.

ASKS FOR DIVORCE

Charleroi Woman Files Libel Seeking Separation From Her Husband

In Prothonotary Ward's office Thursday a libel in divorce was filed by Blanche Weber versus William Weber. The papers set forth that they were married in Charleroi, June 23, 1908, and recently resided at Point Marion. The libellant, who now resides with a sister in East Pittsburgh, alleged that her husband mistreated her, called her vile names was cruel and barbarous to her and practically drove her from their home. She also alleges that he tried to kill her. On February 17, 1911, she says he forced her from the house out into the cold of winter. She sets forth that he came home intoxicated much of the time and was petty worthless.

No Orders to Fire Up

Plate Glass Company Retacent Concerning Starting of Local Furnace

No orders have been received yet at the local plate glass plant of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass company to start another furnace as was talked of a few weeks ago. What the company intends to do is a question yet shrouded in mystery. It was stated that a furnace would be started to manufacture stock for the Cararra department.

Local contractors are inconvenienced to some extent now that the local plant is closed in getting their orders for plate glass quickly. The stock room has been emptied, and no longer can orders be supplied as formerly from the local plant within a few hours after they are left. It is necessary now for a freight shipment to be made from the Pittsburgh stock room or from some other factory. There is practically no change in price but the inconvenience is something.

ODD FELLOWS ARE SURPRISED

Big Smoke From Oakum

Conflagration Does Slight Damage at Regan and Hormell's Plumbing Store

A small spark of the brimstone o. a match flying into a pile of oakum was responsible for a slight conflagration at Regan and Hormell's plumbing shop this morning. Little damage was done so far as can be learned. Employees of the store tried to extinguish the fire which arose immediately from the oakum when the piece of match flew into the pile. The fire alarm was rung in and a number of Babcocks from neighboring stores were pressed into service. Chemicals of the fire department and water were both used. The fire was extinguished but for several minutes intense volumes of smoke rolled forth from every exit, giving the appearance of a serious fire.

CONTRACT MAY HAVE BEEN LET

Rumored New Railroad Connections Are to be Finished

ENTER RICH COAL FIELD

That the long anticipated standard gauge road is to be built into Greene county soon and that the road from Besco to the Millsboro branch line is to be finished to Marianna within the next year, is a rumor prevalent among railroad men. Surveys were completed some time ago for a route from Marianna to Hackney along the narrow gauge Washington and Waynesburg road and on the Besco-Marianna route. It is understood that recently contracts for their construction were awarded.

To the upper Monongahela valley both roads would be of immense importance. The Pennsylvania line running south from Brownsville to Rices Landing has a branch at Millsboro running back from the river a short distance to Besco. This point is about eight miles distant from Marianna. To give an outlet to that part of a rich coal region and to provide another route with a fair grade from the Hackney and Marianna region this survey was made.

Prices on Various Food Products Advance Rapidly

POTATOES AEROPLANING

"Spuds" Now Selling as High as $1.20 Per Bushel at Retail Rate

When Congress definitely decided that the cost of living was high because the cost of living was high, it provided a much needed reason for a much discussed subject, but it did not succeed either in taking apart the works where they ticked or in stopping the onward progress of the prices themselves. Consequently with all the investigation and all the compendiums of knowledge with which Congress has supplied us the suffering is as great or greater than before the time of the investigation.

Last year food producers or whoever formed the particular trust that advanced the prices on food products specialized on meat and flour. These specialties have been continued and others thrown in for good measure this year. Briefly, the price of practically every food product that the Colonel or anybody else can think of is going up. It sort of seems as though they experimented with meat and flour prices before placing the whole shooting-match on an aeroplane.

While everything is specialized on when it comes to price raising this season, sugar, and potatoes and coffee and butter and eggs form the chief specialties. Potatoes are jumping in price on every possible occasion and the most ordinary excuse will answer to add another notch. A couple of hours ago they were selling here for $1.20 a bushel and they haven't been priced since. Sugar is selling now for $1.75 per 25 pound sacks, which, hark you, is lower than it was a few weeks ago. Coffee has jumped to 22 and 40 cents per pound, advancing about 10 cents per pound in the last six months. Country butter sells at between 40 and 50 cents and creamery butter retails at 39 cents a pound. Fresh country eggs command 40 and 45 cents per dozen and the packed variety bring 30 cents. Apples sell at 30 and 40 cents a peck or at $1.00 a bushel which isn't any worse than last year. Canned goods and toothpicks haven't changed in price.

Butter and eggs commanded a similar price last year. Sugar was highest when at $1.65 per 25 pound sack and potatoes brought what was considered a good price at 70 cents per bushel. Coffee has had the most remarkable advance in price going up more rapidly than did sugar a few weeks ago. Meat remains at about the same price it has commanded for the last year.

AFFECTS THIS DISTRICT

Unless there is some adjustment of freight rates from the Pittsburg district to the lakes, troublous times are in prospects for the mining interests of this section. The coal miners organization have served notice that they will demand a raise in wages on April first, when the present scale
expires. The operators in this district owing to freight discriminations
and cheaper production in the West Virginia field are being crowded out of the lake markets until during the past two or three years the most of them, according to their testimony
before the Inter-State Commerce commission, have been operating without profit.

The West Virginia coal field is not organized and wages are lower there than in this district. With lower freight rates to the lakes and lower cost of production, the West Virginia
operators are crowding the Pittsburg coal out of the lake markets, which is one of the largest markets in the country. Under present conditions
it looks as though the Pittsburg operators will not grant any advance in mining rates so long as the West Virginia field can undersell them at present rates in the largest market in the country. Unless this district gets a rate which will enable it to compete with the West Virginia field, a long drawn out struggle is por-tended.

WOULD PREVENT CORRUPTION.

One of the arguments against the initiative and referendum used by people who don't know anything about it, is that it would take all business away from the Legislatures,
and turn it over to the people. Experience does not bear out this view, writes Judson C. Welliver in Munsey's Magazine for December. In an article on the "Initiative, Referendum and Recall," the writer says:
"The people hold their legislative

powers as a check on the Legislature.
They don't care to do all the business
but was satisfied to know that if their elected lawmakers don't do what is wanted the people can do it themselves. The lawmakers know this,
too, and the knowledge makes them vastly more responsive to public demands.

"What use would it be for instance for a street-car company in San Francisco to spend a hundred thousand dollars in bribing aldermen to pass a franchise if the company knew that the people would probably invoke the referendum and refuse the franchise?"

"Such questions as these answer themselves. Buying and selling the votes of legislators, aldermen and other public servants would cease to be a remunerative business, and therefore nobody would engage in it."

PICKED UP IN PASSING

"Why do people get sick?" This question was put to a prominent physician recently, and his reply was convincing evidence that health is largely a matter of violation, and that the person whose will power is stronger than his worldly passions and appetites might at least approach the purported age of the Biblical patri-archs to say nothing of Methuseleh.

In substance the doctor said:
"People get sick chiefly because they eat too much and too fast, and swallow imperfectly masticated food.
The human stomach is fool proof to
a surprising degree, but it succumbs
at last to abuse. Drinking whiskey, beer and other intoxicants, is also a prolific source of sickness, and the medical fraternity profits immensely
by reason of the liquor traffic. More people dig their graves with their teeth and lubricate the route with their gullets than were ever slain in battle.

"Keeping late hours at night and sleeping too late in the morning is another chief cause of sickness. The large class of people who are guilty of this indiscretion are usually the ones who keep themselves in a continual state of excitement, which inevitably brings worry and care. Indiscretions
in dress—wearing thin shoes, insufficient underwear, or changing thick clothes for thin ones in all kinds of weather, also brings grist to the doctor's mill.

"Last but not least an indiscriminate use of patent medicines and swallowing quack nostrums for every imaginary ill puts untold thousands into the permanent invalid corps. If every person carefully avoided the causes of sickness I have just enumerated, I, and as well as a majority of the medical fraternity, would be hunting a new job."

What does it cost to run an automobile? A Harrisburg man, undertakes to make a public reply to this question. He says:

"As I have run a machine (or machines) for six years, and have kept
an accurate account of my expenses,
I feel competent to give some information along this line.

"A small car, two passenger will cost not counting deterioration, five cents a mile for running expense, unless one has bad accidents, when it will cost him more. For deterioration you can charge up one-third cost of car first year, at end of second year car will bring about one-half cost.

"A $2,000 car will cost $50 a month after the first six months. Up to that time, barring accidents, five cents a mile will run it. On the other hand, if you wish to sell at the end of six months the car will bring $1,- 400 to $1,500. Almost $100 a month depreciation. For a pleasure vehicle an automobile is an expensive proposition.

"On the other hand, I do not know
of anything which will give the amount of pleasure that an automobile sensibly run will give the whole family."

The Wind and the Weather.
Weather depends on the direction and movement of wind. Warmth comes from the sun, but wind is the distributor of the warmth. Visiting any place that is warmer than itself, wind always takes some of the warmth away with it. Visiting any place that is colder than itself, wind warms that place. This implies, of course, that wind moves. But what makes it move? It moves by its own weight. Wind is simply drifting air, and the drift is caused by the very same power which draws a falling stone toward the earth.

OWES HER HEALTH

To Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Scottville, Mich.—"I want to tell you how much good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Sensitive Wash have done me. I live on a farm and have worked very hard. I am forty-five years old, and am the mother of thirteen children. Many people think it strange that I am not broken down with hard work and the care of my family, but I tell them of my good friend, your Vegetable Compound, and that there will be no backache and bearing down pains for them if they will take it as I have. I am scarcely ever without it in the house."

"I will say also that I think there is no better medicine to be found for young girls to build them up and make them strong and well. My eldest daughter has taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for painful periods and irregularity, and it has always helped her."

"I am always ready and willing to speak a good word for the Lydia E. Pinkham's Remedies. I tell every one I meet that I owe my health and happiness to these wonderful medicines."

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotics or harmful drugs, and today holds the record for the largest number of actual cures of female diseases.

Object to Selling Eggs by Weight.

Chicago commission men object strenuously, according to the Tribune to a proposal to sell eggs by weight. "From time immemorial," says one of their spokesmen, "eggs have been collected, bought, sold and shipped by the dozen. The farmer has marketed them the shipper has shipped them and the markets of the world have priced and quoted them by the dozen, and there is a natural and inherent reason for this. The egg is a unit of substantial uniformity."

Believes This will "Cure Lung Troubles"

Consumption is a dastardly disease—that is one of its chief dangers. Those who have it are rarely willing to acknowledge the fact. If this trouble is present, it is no time for trifling. Don't waste time in argument. If a so-called "cold" has long persisted; if a cough is present that keeps you anxious, or any of the symptoms are present such as fever or night sweats, weakness and loss of appetite, and perhaps some raising of mucus—the sensible thing to do is take Eckman's Alternative, as Mr. Bettendorf did.

Bettendorf, Green, Ky., R. No. 4.

"Gentlemen: I wish to say for your Alternative that I believe it to be a medicine of unequalled value for all Bronchial and Lung trouble. "The Spring of 1908, I had a severe cough for six months. I tried all the medicine that my friends and doctors recommended to me, but no results came for the better. I had night sweats, and would cough and spit up every night until I got so weak I could hardly do anything. But at last, James Deering, of Glasgow Junction, insisted that I try your medicine, which I ordered at once and began taking the same. In one week's time there was quite an improvement in my condition, and after I had taken several bottles I felt as well as ever in my life. I never wrote any firm or company a letter recommending their medicine before, as there are so many fakes that a medicine of genuine quality don't get credit or even tried."

"I desire the world to know that I firmly believe that your Eckman's Alternative will cure any case of lung trouble if taken before the last stage. I will gladly write personally to any party wanting information in regard to your wonderful medicine." (Signed) BETTENDORF.

Eckman's Alternative is effective in Bronchitis, Asthma, Hay Fever, Throat and Lung Troubles, and in upbuilding the system. Does not contain poisons, opiates or habit-forming drugs. Ask for booklet of cured cases and write to Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., for more advice. For sale by leading druggists and W. F. Hennings, Charleroi, Pa.

PREPARE FOR AUTUMN

RIGHT NOW IS EXCELLENT TIME TO MAKE SELECTION.

Tailored Styles Continue to Hold Their Own in Popular Favor—Short Coat is Also to Be Much in Vogue.

This is an excellent time for looking up the things needed for the next three months, for at this time autumn effects make their appearance and they are generally much cheaper than later on. As usual, tailored styles are much considered, the trim street suit and long coat being in a way always the same and easier to decide upon than the more fanciful garments. At any rate, only tailored things are seen to any extent, and these are quite plain, though the fashion people promise any number of fine surprises in a week or two. In fact, we are told that the street gown will be quite fancy with trimming, that there will be odd cuts and vastly rich colors. Meanwhile, except for an increasing width in the skirt, made by inverted plaits stitched closely at the top and flaring at the bottom, street suits are not greatly different in style from those of the summer. The short coat introduced with late is much in vogue, but this has as many cuts as the peacock has eyes in his gorgeous tail—it is in the saque shape, Empire form, in Norfolk design or with a high belt and coquettish shirred tail. Materials for these fresh and enticing suits, of course, consider the autumn in quality and color. The naggiest little checked wools and striped men's cloths show mellow browns to a great extent, a touch of black satin and deep orange linen being used sometimes for collar and cuffs. Any black and white goods suitable for a tailored suit is still very chic, and with this combination the coat trimmings may show a blend of white and purple linen. The oddity of putting satin with muslin and linen with wool in this way is decidedly smart and most suited to the season. The washable summer materials soften the gloom of the darkish colors used, and lighten the effect of the textures which might otherwise seem too clumsy for the middle of September. The illustration gives the loose saque style girls from seven to twelve will wear, and it is in a smooth blue serge with blue and red silk for the trimming. The single button is of red silk covered with blue crochet.

and this solitary detail gives the little garment a very elegant stamp. Pearl or bone buttons, by the way, are not used on any dressy coat, unless the garment is in polo style and in a delicate evening color. Buttons are elaborate and made to a great extent of crocheted over molds, or the covering will be of some rich tapestry in soft colors—the button set in a metal rim—or the fastener will show a crust of rich embroidery.

On fact, so far as buttons are concerned, one can be commonplace only with the practical coat, and even here if the garment is of a very rough sort some novelty in shape is desirable with the cheapest bone button. The wooden mold, however, covered plainly with the same material, trims many a dashing coat and where the garment is reversible, whichever way the coat is put on, the buttons will be in the color of the lining. With this exception all other buttons on the first coats are striking and original.

To Clean Moire Bags.

White moire handbags clean easily with naphtha. The whole bag—silk cord, gold mountings and all—may be dipped into the naphtha. A gentle scrubbing with an old tooth brush will aid in the cleansing process. The result is better than that which sometimes follows the laundering of a linen hand bag, so that the silk ones, while costly, are not extravagant in the end.

MAKES GOOD HATPIN HOLDER

Glass Tube, With Ribbon Adornments, Best Receptacle That Can Be Provided.

Sticking one's hatpins into the pin cushion generally results in the ruin of a dainty cover and very much detracts also from the attractive and harmonious effect of the dressing table. It is much wiser to have a special receptacle for them.

A very pretty and useful hatpin holder can be made by covering a glass tube with ribbon. These tubes can be bought at many of the large shops. They are just long enough to hold the hatpins, are closed at the bottom and finished at the top with a little liplike rim. After buying the glass buy ribbon to match the decorations of your room just wide enough to make a cover for the glass by sewing two pieces together. The cover may be either the length of the tube and put on smooth, or it may be longer and shirred on each side. The latter way is prettier, but it will catch dust and must be frequently brushed out.

At the bottom of the case the ribbon is gathered together tightly, and either a tassel sewed on or a bunch of bows of baby ribbon. At the top it is finished by hemming each piece of ribbon separately, not sewing the pieces together. The hem must be wide enough to come out beyond the rim of the glass. A long loop of the baby ribbon is sewed at the top of each seam to hang the case up or one piece of ribbon may be used, an end sewed at each side. In either case a small bunch of bows is used as a finish where the ribbon is sewed.

When the ribbon case is finished slip in the tube, which should be a close fit. If there is nothing in the room that seems convenient to hang the case on it is a good plan to buy a long brass hook at a hardware shop and screw it into any appropriate place, such as a door or window frame. An important point to be remembered is always to put your hatpins in the case when taking them out of your hat. You will then never have to hunt for the right pins for a certain hat.

AVOID TOO MANY CLOTHES

All Right to Be Well Supplied, But a Surplus Is Neither Economy Nor Sense.

A woman who desires to dress well on a small income, and it can be done, must learn first of all never to have too many clothes on hand at once. Let her buy the things she needs, wear them out, and then buy others. It is better to have one well-fitting, tailor-made suit, keep it rigorously pressed and in order, wear it until it shows signs of wear, and then replace it, than it is to have several inferior suits. As to large stocks of underwear, they are only an anxiety. If not looked after frequently they grow yellow. Styles, too, alter frequently in underwear as in outer garments; also human figures alter and grow fat sometimes, and the treasured articles won't fit when they are brought out. As to shoes, it is better for the feet and better for the shoes to have several changes and wear them in rotation, but if shoes are kept too long the leather is apt to rot.

NOVELTIES ARE IN DEMAND

Elaborate Garnitures to Be in Evidence During Coming Fall and Winter Months.

Bead, metal, silk and worsted embroideries all promise to have a large vogue throughout the coming fall and winter. Elaborate garnitures in the form of blouse and tunic patterns are being shown on foundations of chiffon. There is practically no limit to the variety that is seen, and the greater the novelty the more popular the effect.

Standing bugles are a new feature in head embroideries. Part of the design is worked out with the beads upright. This results in a handsome relief work, wholly new, and thus far much taken by buyers of extreme novelties. In head embroideries odd shapes in pendant ornaments and bugles are intermingled with beads in various sizes.

Round wooden beads, dyed in color, are being much used by the model houses. Many other new embroideries will be executed in heavy silk thread, with the wooden beads carrying out part of the design.

Remarkable Woman. Mrs. Narcissa Owen, mother of the United States senator from Oklahoma and daughter of the last chief of the seven great Cherokee clans, is an artist of some distinction. Her portraits of Thomas Jefferson and descendants was awarded a medal at the St. Louis Exposition. She not only suffered the hardships of life in the Indian territory, but going back to Virginia with her two children when she was 30 years old, found herself in the tumult of the civil war. At the age of 62, with her children married, she took up painting and she also paints miniatures.

Poetic Apprentice. A grocer's apprentice addicted to poetry has summoned his employer, a rich merchant of Ogutisa, Servia, for unlawful dismissal. The merchant explained that his customers left because the boy answered all questions in rhyme and detained people while he fixed meter and verse. Moreover, he greeted his employer with a new couplet every day. The court found the merchant justified and advised the apprentice to mend his ways.—Belgrade Cor. Fall Mail Gazette.

Catching the Speaker's Eye.

The practice of "catching the speaker's eye" dates back to the season of 1640, when a heated dispute arose between members of the house, several of whom claimed precedence of speech. It was then decided that whoever first caught the speaker's eye should have the right to address the house. This rule worked smoothly until 1685, when Sir John Trevor was elected to the chair. The new speaker was afflicted with an abominable squint, consequently two members would often catch his eye simultaneously and decline to give way to one another. To obviate this a further rule was framed to the effect that the speaker should call by name upon the member privileged to address the house. So every holder of the office has to possess a good memory for names as well as keen eyesight.—London Chronicle.

Origin of Familiar Terms.

Much history is written in the ordinary words of the language. "Tabby," for example. This very domestic-sounding word for the Arabian designation of a quarter of Bagdad famous for its manufacture of divers colored silks and cottons—a quarter named after 'Attab, the great-grandson of Omeyya. "Tabby" appears in English literature in the first half of the seventeenth century as the general term for striped taffeta silks. In the same century "tabby" is applied to a striped or brindled cat. In the eighteenth century, to an "elderly maiden lady." The sense development of this word is in striking contrast with that of another old Arab, "tariff," which came in the sixteenth century, meaning a "multiplication table," and has remained essentially unchanged to the present day.

Prisoners Honored Confidence.

When the circus exhibited in Montpelier, Vt., recently, there was no work for eleven prisoners in the jail. The sheriff purchased tickets for them and allowed them to see the show without an escort. Some had long terms to serve and the crowd and darkness furnished an excellent opportunity to escape. Fifteen minutes after the performance was over every one was back where he belonged.

SAVED MANY FROM DEATH.

W. L. Mock, of Mock, Ark., believes he has saved many lives in his 25 years of experience in the drug business. "What I always like to do," he writes, "is to recommend Dr King's New Discovery for weak, sore lungs, hard colds, hoarseness, obstinate coughs, la grippe, croup, asthma or other bronchial affection, for I feel sure that a number of my neighbors are alive and well today because they took my advice to use it. I honestly believe its the best throat and lung medicine that's made." Easy to prove he's right. Get a trial bottle free or regular 50c or $1.00 bottle. Guaranteed by W. F. Hennings.

Varying Weight of Brain.

The average weight of the male brain is from 40 to 50 ounces; that of the average female brain about five ounces less. The ratio of the brain weight to that of the body is the same in both sexes; consequently the difference of weight in the brain of males and females is due to the lesser body weight in woman and not to inferior cerebral development. Thackeray and Cuvier had brains weighing 54 and 58 ounces, respectively, while the brain of Gambetta weighed but 41 ounce, or less than that of the average boy of seven. The brain of Byron weighed 60 ounces and that of Dante but 50. Simms found an idiot boy whose brain weighed 59 ounces and an ignorant man who had a brain weighing 78 ounces.

Tree Made Lot Valuable.

"Not long ago," says Fred A. Manchester, one of Cleveland's best known real estate men, "I had an assignment to sell a certain number of lots in a new Cleveland allotment. In this allotment there was exactly one tree. The lots ranged in price from $250 to $400, but for the lot on which was located this particular tree the price was $500. And do you know that this one little tree made this one little lot more valuable by far than any of the rest? Folks would hesitate about paying $250 for a pretty little lot on a side street, but no body objected when asked to pay $500 for this lot away out of the ordinary run of travel, simply because there was a big shade tree in the back yard."—Cleveland Leader.

Pleasant Prize.

A local painter spent three months on a painting. He spent a good deal of money on models, but the finished product justified all his expenditures and all his time. Everybody told him so, when his picture was exhibited. Everybody but one. The lady whose opinion he valued most was the one he took to the exhibition with him. "I can hardly wait," she bubbled. "Which is your picture?" "This one," he told her—and waited. She studied it critically. "What is it called?" she wanted to know. "Wood Nymphs." "How silly of me to ask! They're so natural. Why, anybody would think they were really made of wood!"—Cleveland Plain-Dealer.

Foxes Made Bold by Hunger.

Foxes seem to be unusually plentiful in the Blackmore vale this year and several instances of their remarkable boldness have occurred of late. A few days ago Reynard had the hardihood actually to pay a visit to the kennels at Charlton Horethorne, a village in a sheltered valley, in broad daylight, between the Sherborne and Wincanton, and carry off a much prized cock belonging to the huntsman. Apparently the marauder had been lying up in a hedgerow close to the poultry yard and his tracks were easily traced in the muddy lane by which he safely beat his retreat with his capture.—London Standard.

Maine Nature Fakery.

Maine is a great state for "nature fakery." The Kennebec Journal puts out the following: "Obed F. Stackpole of Biddeford discovered on entering his henhouse a few mornings ago that a fine black hen of his flock had committed suicide. He found the hen hanging suspended by her neck, and her head slipped through a loop in a cord, which was attached overhead in the center of the coop. The cord which figured in the event was one by means of which Mr. Stackpole had previously suspended a cabbage just above the floor and a small loop was left in the end to which the stump of the cabbage had been fastened."

Wifely Economy.

After weeks of waiting and longing for the sport, rods, reels, gaff, creel—everything was in readiness for a week's trout-fishing. The young wife, smiling joyously, hurried into the room, extending toward her husband some sticky, speckled papers. "For goodness sake!" he exclaimed, "what on earth are you doing with those old fly-papers?" "I saved them for you from last summer," she answered. "You know you said you always had to buy flies when you went fishing!"

Good Examples of "Bulls."

At an inquest a doctor once stated that "two of the deceased's injuries were fatal, but fortunately the others were not." An Irish paper goes one better and describes how a "dead man was run down by a train and killed. He was injured in a similar way some years ago."

Peculiarities of Nations.

No nation loves nature so much as the German. The Italian travels to get somewhere; the German to travel. The country walk for its own sake is a German discovery. The Englishman's ideal is a park, the German's a wood, and the Frenchman loves his boulevard.—Hamburger Zeitung.

Obtrusive Sarah

"My goodness!" said everybody when Sarah Seaneey made her appearance at the summer resort hotel. People had said "My goodness!" at Sarah Seaneey so many times in her eighteen years of existence that she had grown used to the remark. The only real bright spot in the situation was that her parents had not named her Lily or nicknamed her Tiny in her helpless infancy.

Sarah was large of bone and nearly six feet tall. It was her amazing length and broadness and massiveness which startled people into alarmed comment. In spite of her prominent cheekbones and expansive mouth there was an attractiveness about Sarah's face. It may have been its healthy freshness and the brightness of her eyes, which held a perpetual laugh at the world in general. It took the older people to appreciate this, for those of her own age looked at Sarah and, because she was so different from the stock pattern, declared she was impossible.

At the dances the college boys circled widely around Sarah and picked out the girls whose heads came only to their shoulders. Youthful masculinity is strong on the clinging vine idea. Sarah, in her yards and yards of expensive lingerie gown, sat out the waltzes and two-steps beside her mother, beaming pleasantly and apparently enjoying herself hugely. The girls took this as a direct affront. They said Sarah was "so masculine."

Further, she had an irritating habit of going on long walks by herself and returning with armfuls of wild field flowers and a cheerful countenance. Her practical ostracism seemed not to make the remotest impression upon her.

Lancy Cobb, the only young man whose eyes were not on a lower level than Sarah's, tried to break the boycott. When the girls set their faces against asking her to the beach picnic he was indignant and tried to make it up to Sarah by talking to her. She regarded him interestedly, smiled a little and did not seem impressed. But she was very pleasant to Lancy after that.

"I like that girl!" he told the others. "Why don't you drag her in instead of shelving her?" Agnes Simmons set her rosebud mouth in a straight line at this. Agnes was built on the Dresden china pattern and Lancy had been her special property. She was dainty and fragile enough to allure mightily and this revelation of the unexpected tangents taken by men both surprised and angered her. The anger was all directed at Sarah Seaneey.

Agnes was roused to active defense late one evening when the crowd, wandering out on the end of the pier after the dance, found Sarah Seaneey occupying the best bench alone and gazing appreciatively at the big, full moon shining across the lake. She spoke to the others quite as though they were her dearest friends, instead of persons who had perpetually snubbed her.

"Isn't the water lovely with that shimmer upon it?" she asked.

"Great!" agreed Lancy Cobb, sitting down on the bench beside her.

"If you like it so well," Agnes Simmons said to Sarah, with instant rebellion in her heart, "why don't you take a moonlight swim?"

Agnes could swim a half mile and was proud of it.

Sarah smiled at Agnes silently. She was on her feet by now, for she would not seem to appropriate Lancy. "Oh, I don't know," she answered, meditatively "watching the glistening waves."

"Go on!" Agnes taunted sweetly. She might have been lovingly urging Sarah to help herself to chocolates. "I dare you to jump in—now!"

A little silence fell on the rest. Sarah, like those who had danced, was clad in expensive and fragile clothes. She gave Agnes a long look. A little of her happy expression faded as she understood the antagonistic gaze that was fixed upon her.

"Would you do it?" she asked quietly.

Agnes laughed. "Oh, I'm not afraid of the water," she said, with infinite condescension. "I swim, you know. I didn't think you were afraid—you're so big!"

A long arm shot out from Sarah's side and twined about the slender form of Agnes Simmons and then, with a great plunge Sarah Seaneey dropped from the end of the pier, taking her tormentor with her. With an inarticulate cry, Lancy Cobb jumped after them.

As he dragged himself and Sarah, dripping and straining, to shore he pushed the hair back anxiously from her face. She laughed. "I'm all right!" she gasped. "But I had to sink, for I can't swim a stroke, you know!"

"Then, why—" began Lancy Cobb, in horror.

"She dared me," explained Sarah, placidly wringing out her skirts. "I knew you'd save me!" Then she laughed out loud as she watched Agnes Simmons scrambling up the side of the pier. "I think she was surprised," she added, comfortably. "You're all right!" broke out Lancy Cobb in heartfelt admiration as he marched her toward the hotel.

Among the Theatres

THE PALACE—CHARLEROI

An exhibition of a rendezvous of the United States battleships in New York harbor in the Pathe Weekly Bulletin at the Palace Theatre this week not only gave a splendid view of these monsters of the deep, but also showed the application of a product of the Monongahela valley in their construction. This was the masts of the vessels which, instead of being a single spar or timber, as formerly, are now made of seamless tubing units of which many parts compose a whole. This tubing is made for the most part by the Pittsburgh Steel company at its Monessen plant, the contract for materials for battleship masts being an important one in keeping the plant going. The new seamless tubing masts—made at Monessen—are stronger than a solid spar. Half of the former could be shot away without endangering the structure, as each unit sustains its own weight. Other strong photoplays both grave and gay were shown as usual. Manager Barnhart gets the first releases of the most of the best and standard films on the market, which, being censored by the National Board insures good and clean exhibitions, many of which present striking moral object lessons. Miss Helen Atwill has a splendid repertoire of vocal selections this week specially adapted to her charming voice, the renditions of which are not the least of the entertaining features of the Palace.

THE STAR—CHARLEROI

"The Settler's Wife," "Society Hobos," "The Indian Rustler," "Mutt and Jeff and the Black Hand," "A Narrow Escape," "Colleen Bawn," "The Lost Kerchief," and "Uncle Peter's Ruse," were the titles of some of the photoplays of the repertoire of the Star Theatre this week. The "Mutt and Jeff" pictures, which is a special feature of the Star, was unusually interesting this week, and pleased the big audiences that greeted it immensely. With the approach of the holiday season the matinees at 2 o'clock each day are proving a big attraction for out of town patrons.

THE ALVIN—PITTSBURG

On Monday evening, November 27 at the Alvin Theatre, Pittsburg we are to have the pleasure of welcoming Margaret Anglin, one of the most distinguished actresses before the American public.

Under the direction of Messrs. Liebler & Co., Miss Anglin will appear in a new and original comedy, entitled "Green Stockings," by A. E. W. Mason. The story laid in rural England relates to a family of four girls, daughters of William Faraday, a wealthy gentleman. There is an old custom in England, and still practised, by which unmarried girls wear green stockings at the weddings of their sisters. It has been the fate of Celia Faraday to don them at the weddings of two sisters and when she is face to face with the engagement of another of them and the possibility of another pair of green stockings Celia goaded by the jocular insinuations of her friends as to the possibility of green stockings becoming permanent articles of her wardrobe, conceived a plan which she hoped would frustrate the disaster, and silence her friends.

How her plan involves her in a maze of difficulty, out of which she is rescued by a stranger, is said to offer an amusing comedy, added to which is a charming and graceful love story.

Miss Anglin, who plays the role of Celia Faraday, is provided with an original part that enables her to display her adaptable and versatile art. Messrs Liebler & Co have engaged a company of well known players, among whom are H. Reeves-Smith, Stanley Dark, Arthur Lawrence, Ruth Holt Boucicaut and Maude Granger.

Cotton Crepes.

Cotton crepe, plain and embroidered, is popular for nightgowns, drawers, skirts, corset covers and the combinations. It is trimmed with Valenciennes, elany or barmen lace. As crepe lingerie needs no ironing, only a careful smoothing and stretching with the hands, it will appeal to the woman who is traveling and to the boarding girl, to whom the summer laundry is a puzzling item. It is doubtful if the crepe skirt will become such a favorite, since most women will cling to the smoothly ironed skirt, but for the above-named articles it can be most satisfactory.

To Cool Ship's Magazines.

Considerable attention continues to be given to the cooling of magazines on board naval vessels. Various types of refrigerating apparatus have been examined by the ordnance experts. On the new battleships authorized at the last session of congress there will be installed six refrigerating machines, four of which will be used for cooling the magazines.

Mixed.

An old lady and her daughter stopped outside the Lyceum theatre to study the announcement concerning the pantomime. "Who's the gal as plays the lover?" asked the old lady. "Jane Eyre," replied the daughter. "Jane Eyre?" exclaimed the old lady in amazement. "Well, what part, for goodness sake, does East Lynne play?"—London Opinion.

The Personal View.

"What do you think about the idea of putting a light on your vehicle?" "It wouldn't be a bit of use to the boss I always drive to town," replied Farmer Cornstossel. "He's blind."

EFFICIENCY

How Many Know How to Keep it at Par.

Thousands; yes tens of thousands of men grow old 10 years too soon.

If you are a man and realize that your efficiency is on the wane and that you are losing money and happiness in consequence, get a 50 cent box of Mi-ona stomach tablets today and take two after or with each meal for three days; then take one with each meal regularly until you feel well and vigorous.

Mi-ona stomach tablets disinfect, tone up, restore elasticity to the stomach and intestinal canal and end indigestion. They do more: they increase the nutrition of the body and in case of nerve exhaustion, sleeplessness, night sweats, bad dreams or any condition that requires a restorative they act with astonishing rapidity. They can be found at Piper Bros and helpful druggists the world over.

OLD PEOPLES' HOME FAILS

Inmates Thrown on Charity

A "home for the old people" recently became bankrupt in Detroit and many inmates who had paid into it every dollar they had in the world excepting to be assured of a comfortable old age, were thrown on charity.

We say that every institution of this nature ought to be under supervision of the state so such things could not happen. It is the duty of the young and strong to safeguard the welfare of the old and feeble. Their health and vigor, for example should be kept up as much as possible. Nothing is so good for this purpose as Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron preparation without oil. Miss A. H. Ralston of Mt. Vernon, N. Y., says: "As a tonic, I think Vinol is excellent and especially for an old person. A condition of general debility which had lasted for months yielded promptly to Vinol and this gives me the fullest confidence in it." Vinol is not only pleasant to take but always agrees with the stomach and we guarantee it absolutely. Piper Bros. Druggists, Charleroi, Pa.

PLANS ARE DISCUSSED

Sunday School Workers of Charleroi District Get Together

The officers of Charleroi district, No. 1, of the Washington County Sunday School Association were in session Thursday evening hearing reports from the various superintendents of the district and also making additional plans for the coming convention next June. All the members were present with the exception of two, and these were from out-of-town. The district cabinet discussed their plans over the luncheon tables in the Busy Bee Restaurant at 6 o'clock.

Prof. I. T. Daniel was invited to prepare and conduct a Grand Concert to be given the evening before the convention. This, it is expected will be a great event for Charleroi. Those in charge of this district's work are thoroughly alive to their work, and are laying their plans for Charleroi to have the banner convention of all the gatherings ever held in the county.

The next meeting of the officers will be held shortly after the holiday season, when all the superintendents and pastors of the district will be invited to a miniature convention in one of the churches.

SOUTHSIDE WILL

PLAY HERE TONIGHT

Southside's superior five which is ripping things over the Central league will appear here tonight in a struggle with the Charleroi team. During the last three days Capt. Adams has had his team practicing here and is ready for the Pittsburghers. Southside was beaten Thursday night at Uniontown. Smith the big and fine Uniontown center played his last game on the home floor, leaving soon for his home in Connecticut.

Real Wisdom.

It is far better to pin a rose in a man's coat than to send twenty wreaths to his funeral.—E. H. Manley.

Real Wealth.

To be content with what we possess is the greatest and most secure riches.—Cicero.

Brain Drill With Fingers.

Brain drill with the fingers is the latest recommendation to those who would be efficient. It is not a system of message that is recommended, but simply the regular use of the hands. The knots, sew, do fretwork, anything and everything, in fact, that calls for manual skill you want to have an active, resourceful and versatile brain, people are told. The truth of this statement is said to lie in the fact that in every manual act the hand is directed by the brain. Every act reacts upon the brain, strengthening and stimulating it.

Sneezing, moping fowls have Roup. Cure them with Conkey's Roup Remedy. Get it on a "money back" guarantee at W. F. Hennings.

Among the Passers

George Smith, the Stanford Conn. man who has the reputation of being the best center in the league as well as one of the most popular players, failing to get a leave of absence from the government position to which he has been appointed will play his last game with Uniontown on Saturday night at Southside. Bill Powell of Southside will attempt to fill Smith's shoes when the later leaves.

Jack Albright, the Uniontown writer is responsible for the statement that the schedule is so much mixed up that if you would present a copy of it at a Chinese laundry you would receive your laundry.

Kummer, the Connellsville star got 12 field goals in the Connellsville-Washington game this week Cavanaugh, Connellsville's center, tried to follow suit but only got 10.

Feral's Washington bunch like the plan of a Green county railroad looks nice on paper, but also like it, hasn't a very encouraging system of getting anywhere.

Southside is threatening with defeat. In basketball threats are about as much good as Turkey's claims for Tripoli at the present time. Brady seems to be Washington's star. This Brady is the same chap that was supposed to play with the Charleroi team and failed to show up. Everybody wishes him good luck.

LOCAL MENTION

Mrs. A. O. Davis of Fallowfield avenue has gone to Meadville for a visit with friends.

Postoffice Inspector H. H. Williams of Greensburg, who is at the Charleroi postoffice a few days making his annual inspection was incapacitated from duty Thursday by illness.

C. O. Jones has gone to Moundsville, W. Va., where he will be employed as a tinner.

Donald Allen went to Wellsburg, W. Va., today and will attend a meeting of the college fraternity of Bethany College to which he belongs.

W. R. Gaut is a business visitor in Pittsburgh.

George and Miss Blanche Eichhorn of Butler have returned home after a week's visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Porter of Washington avenue.

Mrs. John Porter has gone to Butler to visit friends.

Hamilton Newcomer, Mrs. C. S. Crawford, Mr. C. E. Stewart and Mrs. Matt Storey and children Ruth and Margaret of Brownsville were guests Thursday of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Newcomer.

Force of Habit.

A United States district attorney, at a banquet, once spoke of honesty: "Are we coming to such a pass that our ideas of an honest man will correspond to the idea of old Hiram Strood? Hiram Strood for the seventh time was about to fall. He called in an expert accountant to disentangle his books. The accountant, after two days' work, announced to Hiram that he would be able to pay his creditors four cents on the dollar. At this news the old man looked vexed: 'Heretofore,' he said, frowning, 'I have always paid ten cents on the dollar.' A virtuous and benevolent expression spread over his face. 'And I will do so now,' he resumed. 'I will make up the difference out of my own pocket.'—Blue Bull.

Great Minds Not Exempt.

In Tolstoy there seems to be the same contradiction between the natural man and the ascetic moralist that pertains to lesser minds, and in a certain instance, cited by Aymer Maude in his "Life of Tolstoy," this mental elasticity makes for humor. When Sarah Bernhardt visited Moscow the great man delivered himself of a crushing condemnation of the contemporary theater and of the falsity of the dramatic art in general. After a momentous silence one of his guests admitted, somewhat timorously, that he was going to see the French actress that evening. Tolstoy's face suddenly lighted up with a good-humored smile. "Do you know," he said, "I am awfully sorry I'm not going."—Youth's Companion.

The Inevitable.

An old man who had lived all his life on the moors of Scotland and had never seen a railway, was persuaded by his two sons to accompany them on a trip to Sheffield. Arriving at the station, the old man was terrified at the sight of the train running into the station and exclaimed: "Let's go back, lads, or something will happen." But his sons bustled him into a carriage, where he sat looking terribly upset, and muttering to himself, "something will happen." The climax was reached when the train dashed into a tunnel, the old man crying out, "I knew something would happen. I'm struck blind."

Washington county, almost in a direct continuing line to the branch to be run from Besco, a route has been laid out. Tracks already run from Monongahela to Marianna—with a ranch off to Cokeburg.

Part of the plan would be to standardize the Washington and Waynesburg road. All the proposed developments would have a direct important bearing upon the future developments of the Monongahela valley and Greene county and it seems as though the Pennsylvania system after all the talk of the B. & O and other lines getting on the ground first will take the initiative.

The Key to Power.

No one has ever reached the limits of the personal power that his own life may have. Here is the glory and the challenge of the spiritual life. Physical health and power has its limitations and its ending; when one has attained to a certain degree here the best that he can hope to do is to maintain it for a few years and then to see it drop away from him. Not so spiritual health and power. It can increase up to the day of one's death—and then be released to greater things. The theme of stirring thought is this: "The always multiplying power of obedience to God's will." What a dynamic thought to lodge in the lives of those who are at the threshold of mature life! If we would put an end to personal power, disobe. Obedience pushes the limitations of power ever farther away.

Bottomless Bottle.

In order to overcome the difficulty of cleansing a milk bottle thoroughly, says the Scientific American, a "bottomless bottle" has recently been invented. The device consists of a tube formed like a bottle, but open at each end, so that all parts of the interior are readily accessible. When the bottle is to be used, a paraffin paper disk is fitted into the larger end of the tube to serve as a bottom, and is held securely by means of stiff spring metal strips. After the bottle has been filled it is closed in the usual way by means of a paraffin paper cap. The caps and bottoms, being made of paper, may be discarded after use and new ones may be employed with every fresh use of the bottle.

Erring Young Man Goes to Chair Without Tremor

DIES IN ONE MINUTE

Current Turned On at 7:23 This Morning—Makes a Statement

Sustained by that wonderful nerve that has characterized his days of incarceration while under sentence of death, Henry Clay Beattie, Jr., this morning at Richmond, Va., paid the toll of life for the murder of his wife. Making a statement beforehand which is believed to be a complete confession of his crime bearing the sympathy of thousands and condemned by thousands more, the wayward young man marched to his doom without the least trace of emotion and took his final plunge into the unknown without a tremor.

Beattie's execution occurred at 7:23 this morning. At that hour he was placed in the electric chair, the current turned on and in a minute he was pronounced dead. Members of the family claimed the body and will inter it in the family plot in Maury cemetery, South Richmond.

The formalities preceding the execution were apparently more affecting to the spectators than to young Beattie. The warden of the penitentiary read the warrant ordering his death, while the doomed man calmly listened. He had said: "If I have to go, the sooner it is all over the better," and apparently he clung to this conclusion.

For a few minutes Thursday Beattie broke down and it was feared his remarkable nerve and stoicism were about to desert him. This was when he took leave of his father and brother, Douglas. When the parting came the son laid his head on his father's shoulder the other gripped that of his brother. But he recovered quickly. Another affecting scene came when he took leave of his sister Hazel. The prisoner professed his complete conversion and said he had no fear that his peace was made with God.

Beattie's career was remarkable while it lasted. After his marriage his associations with Beulah Binford are said to have brought on trouble which resulted in his murder of his wife while out automobiling. The trial held an intense interest to the whole country. After his sentence efforts were made to have the death sentence commuted by Governor Mann, but without avail.

Rev. Cherney In Shanghai

Former Valley Minister and Wife Among Those Who Had to Flee in China

Among those who are in the zone of the revolution in China are Rev. and Mrs. J. A. Cherney, formerly of Monessen, who are doing missionary work. A cablegram states that all the missionaries of the American Baptist Foreign Missionary society stationed in West China, with the exception of Dr. and Mrs. William R. Morse, who are remaining at Chung King, have either arrived at Shanghai or are on their way to that city. Among the latest arrivals at Shanghai are Rev. and Mrs. Cherney. Rev. Cherney held the pastorate of the Monessen Baptist church for a time and later with his wife went to China. He was reported killed a year or so ago in an uprising but this was later proved false. He is well known here.

MAY GET ANOTHER CARRIER

Inspector Conducting Inquiry Into Postoffice Matter

GOING OVER THE ROUTES

That the efforts of Postmaster J. E. McCardle to improve the free delivery service in Charleroi by securing another carrier have not been in vain, is attested by the visit of Postoffice Inspector H. H. Williams to the postoffice this week. While Inspector Williams is on his annual tour of inspection he is taking up the matter of an additional carrier and considering the advisability of the appointment of one.

Today Inspector Williams is going over the routes of the four carriers learning from personal observation of their work. He is instituting a careful inquiry into the needs of the postal service here.

It may be, Inspector Williams says that the postoffice needs a new carrier for the year around or that it needs only an auxiliary service. Whatever it does need it is going to get. An auxiliary carrier is one who is employed only at the busiest periods of the year. During the remainder of the year the regular men do the work. Judging from former years, the carrier force is entirely inadequate during the holiday season when mail matter to be handled is not only exceptionally large but the bad weather makes the work tedious. In the summer the mail matter is light and can be much better handled.

Inspector Williams stated that the postal savings bank here was in good shape and that there is a fair deposit.

CHARLEROI MAN NOT GUILTY OF CHARGE

Costs Placed on Prosecutor in Embezzlement Case Having to do With Prudential Life Insurance Company

This morning the jury in the case of Edward Strausser of Charleroi who was tried at Washington charged with embezzlement by the Prudential Insurance company, brought in a verdict of not guilty and placed the costs on the private prosecutor. The case was a hard fought one, Irwin & Wiley representing the Prudential Insurance company in addition to District Attorney Jackson, who appeared for the Commonwealth. Strausser was represented by D. M. McCloskey of Charleroi. Lyon Nowochick, a coal miner was convicted of changing coal checks from one wagon to another in the mine and was sentenced to pay a fine of $100 and costs and serve one year's imprisonment in the workhouse. Stanley Payer, a miner employed near Burgettstown, also drew a sentence in the workhouse for six months, in addition to a fine of $1 and costs. He was found guilty of assault during a drunken bout in which he became involved. But two cases remained for trial this morning which will terminate the November term.

EVENING TRAIN TO ARRIVE HALF HOUR LATER BY SCHEDULE

New Time Table To Go Into Effect on Sunday Along the Monongahela Division-- Other Changes to be Made

When the schedule along the Monongahela division Pennsylvania railroad goes into effect Sunday a number of changes in the time of trains will be effected. There will be one important change, that of the evening train which has been arriving here at 5:50 from Pittsburgh. This train will henceforth arrive here at 6:31, the same as it did last winter.

Changes in the northbound trains will be as follows:

Train due here at 9:16 a. m. to arrive at 9:10; train due at 10:34 a. m. to arrive at 10:39; train due at 12:36 p. m. to arrive at 12:33; train due at 5:53 p. m. to arrive at 5:41; train due at 8:23 p. m. to arrive at 8:25.

Changes in the southbound trains will be: Train due at 6:32 a. m. to arrive at 6:28; train due at 7:58 a. m. to arrive at 7:53; train due at 9:59 a. m. to arrive at 9:51; train due at 11:01 a. m. to arrive at 11:00; train due at 5:51 p. m. to arrive at 6:31; train due at 9:09 p. m. to arrive at 9:04.

There will be two changes of Sunday trains. The northbound train now due at 12:23 will arrive at 12:19 p. m. and the southbound train due at 8:43 will arrive at 8:43 a. m.

There is a big change in one of the Rices Landing branch trains. One leaving Rices Landing at 1:55 in the afternoon will run just one hour later in the afternoon.

The change of the evening train from Pittsburgh was made to satisfy the belated shoppers and theatre goers who wish to come home after the matinee. Last winter the train was run on a similar schedule and changed in May to 6:51. This train has been leaving Pittsburgh at 4:25. By the new schedule it will leave at 5:15.

Not a Deer But a Bear Formidable Denizen of Northern Woods in Struggle With Lockmaster

Not a deer but a bear, a much more formidable animal to encounter when its domestic life is interfered with, injured Lockmaster A. F. McGowan of Lock No. 4, as he was hunting this week. Mr. McGowan in a struggle with bruin had his collar bone broken and was otherwise severely injured. It was at first stated that he was hunting in Bucks county. Instead of Bucks, it was a county in the northern part of the State.

ASKS FOR DIVORCE

In Prothonotary Ward's office Thursday a libel in divorce was filed by Blanche Weber versus William Weber. The papers set forth that they were married in Charleroi, June 23, 1908, and recently resided at Point Marion. The libellant, who now resides with a sister in East Pittsburgh, alleged that her husband mistreated her, called her vile names, was cruel and barbarous to her and practically drove her from their home. She also alleges that he tried to kill her. On February 17, 1911, she says he forced her from the house out into the cold of winter. She sets forth that he came home intoxicated much of the time and was petty worthless.

Big Smoke From Oakum

Conflagration Does Slight Damage at Regan and Hormell's Plumbing Store

A small spark of the brimstone of a match flying into a pile of oakum was responsible for a slight conflagration at Regan and Hormell's plumbing shop this morning. Little damage was done so far as can be learned. Employees of the store tried to extinguish the fire which arose immediately from the oakum when the piece of match flew into the pile. The fire alarm was rung in and a number of Babcocks from neighboring stores were pressed into service. Chemicals of the fire department and water were both used. The fire was extinguished but for several minutes intense volumes of smoke rolled forth from every exit, giving the appearance of a serious fire.

CONTRACT MAY HAVE BEEN LET

Rumored New Railroad Connections Are to be Finished

ENTER RICH COAL FIELD

That the long anticipated standard gauge road is to be built into Greene county soon and that the road from Besco on the Millsboro branch line is to be finished to Marianna within the next year, is a rumor prevalent among railroad men. Surveys were completed some time ago for a route from Marianna to Hackney along the narrow gauge Washington and Waynesburg road and on the Besco-Marianna route. It is understood that recently contracts for their construction were awarded.

To the upper Monongahela valley both roads would be of immense importance. The Pennsylvania line running south from Brownsville to Rices Landing has a branch at Millsboro running back from the river a short distance to Besco. This point is about eight miles distant from Marianna. To give an outlet to that part of a rich coal region and to provide another route with a fair grade from the Hackney and Marianna region this survey was made.

Prices on Various Food Products Advance Rapidly

POTATOES AEROPLANING

'Spuds' Now Selling as High as $1.20 Per Bushel at Retail Rate

When Congress definitely decided that the cost of living was high because the cost of living was high, it provided a much needed reason for a much discussed subject, but it did not succeed either in taking apart the works where they ticked or in stopping the onward progress of the prices themselves. Consequently with all the investigation and all the compendiums of knowledge with which Congress has supplied us the suffering is as great or greater than before the time of the investigation.

Last year food producers or whoever formed the particular trust that advanced the prices on food products specialized on meat and flour. These specialties have been continued and others thrown in for good measure this year. Briefly, the price of practically every food product that the Colonel or anybody else can think of is going up. It sort of seems as though they experimented with meat and flour prices before placing the whole shooting-match on an aeroplane.

While everything is specialized on when it comes to price raising this season, sugar, and potatoes and coffee and butter and eggs form the chief specialties. Potatoes are jumping in price on every possible occasion and the most ordinary excuse will answer to add another notch. A couple of hours ago they were selling here for $1.20 a bushel and they haven't been priced since. Sugar is selling now for $1.75 per 25 pound sacks, which, hark you, is lower than it was a few weeks ago. Coffee has jumped to 22 and 40 cents per pound, advancing about 10 cents per pound in the last six months. Country butter sells at between 40 and 50 cents and creamery butter retails at 39 cents a pound. Fresh country eggs command 40 and 45 cents per dozen and the packed variety bring 30 cents. Apples sell at 30 and 40 cents a peck or at $1.00 a bushel which isn't any worse than last year. Canned goods and tooth-picks haven't changed in price.

Butter and eggs commanded a similar price last year. Sugar was highest when at $1.65 per 25 pound sack and potatoes brought what was considered a good price at 70 cents per bushel. Coffee has had the most remarkable advance in price going up more rapidly than did sugar a few weeks ago. Meat remains at about the same price it has commanded for the last year.

Unless there is some adjustment of

freight rates from the Pittsburg district to the lakes, troublous times are

in prospects for the mining interests

of this section. The coal miners organization have served notice that they will demand a raise in wages on

April first, when the present scale

expires. The operators in this district owing to freight discriminations

and cheaper production in the West

Virginia field are being crowded out of the lake markets until during the past two or three years the most of

them, according to their testimony

before the Inter-State Commerce

commission, have been operating

without profit.

The West Virginia coal field is not

organized and wages are lower there

than in this district. With lower

freight rates to the lakes and lower

cost of production, the West Virginia

operators are crowding the Pittsburg

coal out of the lake markets, which is one of the largest markets in the country. Under present conditions

it looks as though the Pittsburg operators will not grant any advance in

mining rates so long as the West Virginia field can undersell them at present rates in the largest market in the country. Unless this district gets

a rate which will enable it to compete with the West Virginia field, a long drawn out struggle is por-

tended.

WOULD PREVENT CORRUPTION.

One of the arguments against the

initiative and referendum used by people who don't know anything

about it, is that it would take all

business away from the Legislatures

and turn it over to the people. Experience does not bear out this view,

writes Judson C. Welliver in Mun-

sey's Magazine for December. In an article on the "Initiative, Referendum and Recall," the writer says:

"The people hold their legislative

powers as a check on the Legislature.

They don't care to do all the business

but was satisfied to know that if their

elected-lawmakers-don't-do-what is

wanted the people can do it themselves. The lawmakers know this,

too, and the knowledge makes them

vastly more responsive to public demands.

"What use would it be for instance

for a street-car company—in San Francisco to spend a hundred thousand dollars in bribing aldermen to pass a franchise if the company knew

that the people would probably involve the referendum and refuse the franchise?

"Such questions as these answer

themselves. Buying and selling the votes of legislators, aldermen and

other public servants would cease to be a remunerative business, and

therefore nobody would engage in it."

PICKED UP IN PASSING

"Why do people get sick?" This question was put to a prominent

physician recently, and his reply was

convincing evidence that health is largely a matter of violation, and

that the person whose will power is stronger than his worldly passions and

appetites might at least approach the

purported age of the Biblical patri-

archs to say nothing of Methuseleh.

In substance the doctor said:

"People get sick chiefly because

they eat too much and too fast, and swallow imperfectly masticated food.

The human stomach is fool proof to

a surprising degree, but it succumbs

at last to abuse. Drinking whiskey,

beer and other intoxicants, is also a

prolific source of sickness, and the medical fraternity profits immensely

by reason of the liquor traffic. More

people dig their graves with their

teeth and lubricate the route with their gullets than were ever slain in battle.

"Keeping late hours at night and

sleeping too late in the morning is another chief cause of sickness. The large class of people who are guilty of

this indiscretion are usually the ones

who keep themselves in a continual

state of excitement, which inevitably

brings worry and care. Indiscretions

in dress—wearing thin shoes, insufficient underwear, or changing thick

clothes for thin ones in all kinds of

weather, also brings grist to the doctor's mill.

"Last but not least an indiscriminate use of patent medicines and

swallowing quack nostrums for every

imaginary ill puts untold thousands

into the permanent invalid corps. If

every person carefully avoided the

causes of sickness I have just enumerated, I, and as well as a majority of the medical fraternity, would be hunting a new job."

What does it cost to run an automobile? A Harrisburg man, under-

takes to make a public reply to this question. He says:

"As I have run a machine (or machines) for six years, and have kept

an accurate account of my expenses,

I feel competent to give some information along this line.

"A small car, two passenger will cost not counting deterioration, five

cents a mile for running expense, unless one has had accidents, when it will cost him more. For deterioration you can charge up one-third cost

of car first year, at end of second

year car will bring about one-half

cost.

"A $2,000 car will cost $50 a month

after the first six months. Up to

that time, barring accidents, five cents a mile will run it. On the other hand, if you wish to sell at the end of six months the car will bring $1,-

400 to $1,500. Almost $100 a month

depreciation. For a pleasure vehicle

an automobile is an expensive proposition.

"On the other hand, I do not know

of anything which will give the

amount of pleasure that an automobile sensibly run will give the whole family."

OWES HER HEALTH

To Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Scottville, Mich.—"I want to tell you how much good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Sanative Wash have done me. I live on a farm and have worked very hard. I am forty-five years old, and am the mother of thirteen children. Many people think it strange that I am not broken down with hard work and the care of my family, but I tell them of my good friend, your Vegetable Compound, and that there will be no backache and bearing down pains for them if they will take it as I have. I am scarcely ever without it in the house."

"I will say also that I think there is no better medicine to be found for young girls to build them up and make them strong and well. My eldest daughter has taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for painful periods and irregularity, and it has always helped her."

"I am always ready and willing to speak a good word for the Lydia E. Pinkham's Remedies. I tell every one I meet that I owe my health and happiness to these wonderful medicines."

—Mrs. J. G. JOHNSON, Scottville, Mich., R.F.D. 2.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotics or harmful drugs, and today holds the record for the largest number of actual cures of female diseases.

Object to Selling Eggs by Weight.
Chicago commission men object strenuously, according to the Tribune to a proposal to sell eggs by weight. "From time immemorial," says one of their spokesmen, "eggs have been collected, bought, sold and shipped by the dozen. The farmer has marketed them the shipper has shipped them and the markets of the world have priced and quoted them by the dozen, and there is a natural and inherent reason for this. The egg is a unit of substantial uniformity."

AWAY GOES PIMPLES, BLACKHEADS, ECZEMA, DANDRUFF AND OTHER SKIN AFFECTIONS

WHEN ZEMO AND ZEMO SOAP ARE USED.

The Piper Drug Store says, "We are so confident that ZEMO and ZEMO SOAP used together will rid the skin or scalp of infant or grown person of PIMPLES, BLACKHEAD, ECZEMA, DANDRUFF, INSECT BITES or any form of itching, irritated, disfiguring skin or scalp trouble, that we do not hesitate to recommend these clean refined remedies to every person who desires quick relief and a cure from any form of aggravated skin or scalp affection. Oftentimes one bottle and one cake of soap will cure a minor case of skin trouble."

ZEMO and ZEMO SOAP produce sure and swift results. You will not suffer another day after you commence to use them. You will feel like a new person.

ZEMO and ZEMO SOAP can be obtained from one leading druggist in every city or town in America and in Charleroi at Piper Bros., Drug Store.

Believes This will "Cure Lung Troubles"

Consumption is a flattering disease—that is one of its chief dangers. Those who have it are rarely willing to acknowledge the fact.

If this trouble is present, it is no time for trifling. Don't waste time in argument. If a so-called "cold" has long persisted, if a cough is present that keeps you anxious, or any of the symptoms are present such as fever or night sweats, weakness and loss of appetite, and perhaps, some raising of mucus—do the sensible thing, take Eckman's Alternative, as Mr. Bettersworth did.

Bowling Green, Ky., R. No. 4.
"Gentlemen: I wish to say for your Alternative that I believe it to be a medicine of unequalled value for all Bronchial and Lung trouble.
"The Spring of 1908, I had a severe cough for six months. I tried all the medicine that my friends and doctors recommended to me, but no results came for the better. I had night sweats, and would cough and spit up every night until I got so weak I could hardly do anything. But at last, James Dearing, of Glasgow, Junction, insisted that I try your medicine, which I ordered at once and began taking the same. In one week's time there was quite an improvement in my condition, and after I had taken several bottles I felt as well as ever in my life. I never wrote any drug or company a letter recommending their medicine before, as there are so many fakes that a medicine of genuine quality don't get credit or even tried.
"I desire the world to know that I truly believe that your Eckman's Alternative will cure any case of lung trouble if taken before the last stage. I will gladly write personally to any party wanting information in regard to your wonderful medicine." (Signed Affidavit)
A. C. BETTERS WORTH.
Eckman's Alternative is effective in Bronchitis, Asthma, Hay Fever, Throat, Lung Trouble, and in upbuilding the system. Does not contain poisons, opiates or habit-forming drugs. PREPARE FOR AUTUMN

RIGHT NOW IS EXCELLENT TIME TO MAKE SELECTION.

Tailored Styles Continue to Hold Their Own in Popular Favor—Short Coat Is Also to Be Much in Vogue.

This is an excellent time for looking up the things needed for the next three months, for at this time autumn effects make their appearance and they are generally much cheaper than later on. As usual, tailored styles are much considered, the trim street suit and long coat being in a way always the same and easier to decide upon than the more fanciful garments. At any rate, only tailored things are seen to any extent, and these are quite plain, though the fashion people promise any number of fine surprises in a week or two. In fact, we are told that the street gown will be quite fancy with trimming, that there will be odd cuts and vastly rich colors. Meanwhile, except for an increasing width in the skirt, made by inverted plaits stitched closely at the top and flaring at the bottom, street suits are not greatly different in style from those of the summer. The short coat introduced with late is much in vogue, but this has as many cuts as the peacock has eyes in his gorgeous tail—it is in sacque shape, Empire form, in Norfolk design or with a high belt and coquettish shirred tail. Materials for these fresh and enticing suits, of course, consider the autumn in quality and color. The nattiest little checked wools and striped men's cloths show mellow browns to a great extent, a touch of black satin and deep orange linen being used sometimes for collar and cuffs. Any black and white goods suitable for a tailored suit is still very chic, and with this combination the coat trimmings may show a blend of white and purple linen. The oddity of putting satin with muslin and linen with wool in this way is decidedly smart and most suited to the season. The washable summer materials soften the gloom of the darkish colors used, and lighten the effect of the textures which might otherwise seem too clumsy for the middle of September. The illustration gives the loose sacque style girls from seven to twelve will wear, and it is in a smooth blue serge with blue and red silk for the trimming. The single button is of red silk covered with blue crochet.

and this solitary detail gives the little garment a very elegant stamp. Pearl or bone buttons, by the way, are not used on any dressy coat, unless the garment is in polo style and in a delicate evening color. Buttons are elaborate and made to a great extent of crochet over molds, or the covering will be of some rich tapestry in soft colors—the button set in a metal rim—or the fastener will show a crust of rich embroidery.

On fact, so far as buttons are concerned, one can be commonplace only with the practical coat, and even here if the garment is of a very rough sort some novelty in shape is desirable with the cheapest bone button. The wooden mold, however, covered plainly with the same material, trims many a dashing coat and where the garment is reversible, whichever way the coat is put on, the buttons will be in the color of the lining. With this exception all other buttons on the first coats are striking and original.

To Clean Moire Bags.
White moire handbags clean easily with naphtha. The whole bag—silk cord, gold mountings and all—may be dipped into the naphtha. A gentle scrubbing with an old tooth brush will aid in the cleansing process. The result is better than that which sometimes follows the laundering of a linen hand bag, so that the silk ones, while costly, are not extravagant in the end.

MAKES GOOD HATPIN HOLDER

Glass Tube, With Ribbon Adornments, Best Receptacle That Can Be Provided.

Sucking one's hatpins into the cushion generally results in the ruin of a dainty cover and very much detracts also from the attractive and harmonious effect of the dressing table. It is much wiser to have a special receptacle for them.

A very pretty and useful hatpin holder can be made by covering a glass tube with ribbon. These tubes can be bought at many of the large shops. They are just long enough to hold the hatpins, are closed at the bottom and finished at the top with a little liplike rim. After buying the glass buy ribbon to match the decorations of your room just wide enough to make a cover for the glass by sewing two pieces together. The cover may be either the length of the tube and put on smooth, or it may be longer and shirred on each side. The latter way is prettier, but it will catch dust and must be frequently brushed out.

At the bottom of the case the ribbon is gathered together tightly, and either a tassel sewed on or a bunch of bows or baby ribbon. At the top, it is finished by hemming each piece of ribbon separately, not sewing the pieces together. The hem must be wide enough to come out beyond the rim of the glass. A long loop of the baby ribbon is sewed at the top of each seam to hang the case up or one piece of ribbon may be used, an end sewed at each side. In either case a small bunch of bows is used as a finish where the ribbon is sewed.

When the ribbon case is finished slip in the tube, which should be a close fit. If there is nothing in the room that seems convenient to hang the case on it is a good plan to buy a long brass hook at a hardware shop and screw it into any appropriate place, such as a door or window frame. An important point to be remembered is always to put your hatpins in the case when taking them out of your hat. You will then never have to hunt for the right pins for a certain hat.

AVOID TOO MANY CLOTHES

All Right to Be Well Supplied, But a Surplus Is Neither Economy
Nor Sense.

A woman who desires to dress well on a small income, and it can be done, must learn first of all never to have too many clothes on hand at once. Let her buy the things she needs, wear them out, and then buy others. It is better to have one well-fitting, tailor-made suit, keep it rigorously pressed and in order, wear it until it shows signs of wear, and then replace it, than it is to have several inferior suits. As to large stocks of underwear, they are only an anxiety. If not looked after frequently they grow yellow. Styles, too, alter frequently in underwear as in outer garments; also human figures alter and grow fat sometimes, and the treasured articles won't fit when they are brought out. As to shoes, it is better for the feet and better for the shoes to have several changes and wear them in rotation, but if shoes are kept too long the leather is apt to rot.

NOVELTIES ARE IN DEMAND

Elaborate Garnitures to Be in Evidence During Coming Fall and Winter Months.

Bead, metal, silk and worsted embroideries all promise to have a large vogue throughout the coming fall and winter. Elaborate garnitures in the form of blouse and tunic patterns are being shown on foundations of chiffon. There is practically no limit to the variety that is seen, and the greater the novelty the more popular the effect.

Standing bugles are a new feature in bead embroideries. Part of the design is worked out with the beads upright. This results in a handsome relief work, wholly new, and thus far much taken by buyers of extreme novelties. In bead embroideries odd shapes in pendant ornaments and bugles are intermingled with beads in various sizes.

Round wooden beads, dyed in color, are being much used by the model houses. Many other new embroideries will be executed in heavy silk thread, with the wooden beads carrying out part of the design.

Remarkable Woman.

Mrs. Narcissa Owen, mother of the United States senator from Oklahoma and daughter of the last chief of the seven great Cherokee clans, is an artist of some distinction. Her portraits of Thomas Jefferson and descendants was awarded a medal at the St. Louis Exposition. She not only suffered the hardships of life in the Indian territory, but going back to Virginia with her two children when she was 30 years old, found herself in the tumult of the civil war. At the age of 62, with her children married, she took up painting and she also paints miniatures.

Catching the Speaker's Eye.
The pistole of "catching the Speaker's eye" dates back to the session of 1640, when a heated dispute arose between members of the house, several of whom claimed precedence of speech. It was then decided that whoever first caught the Speaker's eye should have the right to address the house. This rule worked smoothly until 1685, when Sir John Trevor was elected to the chair. The new Speaker was afflicted with an abominable squint, consequently two members would often catch his eye simultaneously and decline to give way to one another. To obviate this a further rule was framed to the effect that the Speaker should call by name upon the member privileged to address the house. So every holder of the office has to possess a good memory for names as well as keen eyesight.—London Chronicle

Origin of Familiar Terms.
Much history is written in the ordinary words of the language. "Tabby," for example. This very domestic appearing word for the Arabian designation of a quarter of Bagdad famous for its manufacture of divers colored silks and cottons—a quarter named after "Attab," the great-grandson of Omeiva. "Tabby" appears in English literature in the first half of the seventeenth century as the general term for striped cat. It is applied to a striped or brindled cat. In the eighteenth century, to an "elderly maiden lady." The sense development of this word is in striking contrast with that of another old Arab, "farif," which came in the sixteenth century, meaning a "multiplication table," and has remained essentially unchanged to the present day.

Prisoners Honored Confidence.
When the circus exhibited in Montpelier, Vt., recently, there was a new lot for eleven prisoners in the jail. The sheriff purchased tickets for them and allowed them to see the show without an escort. Some had long terms to serve and the crowd and darkness furnished an excellent opportunity to escape. Fifteen minutes after the performance was over every one was back where he belonged.

SAVED MANY FROM DEATH.
W. L. Mock, of Mock, Ark., believes he has saved many lives in his 25 years of experience in the drug business. "What I always like to do," he writes, "is to recommend Dr. King's New Discovery for weak, sore lungs, hard colds, hoarseness, obstinate coughs, la grippe, croup, asthma or other bronchial affection, for I feel sure that a number of my neighbors are alive and well today because they took my advice to use it. I honestly believe it's the best throat and lung medicine that's made." Easy to prove he's right. Get a trial bottle free or regular 50c or $1.00 bottle. Guaranteed by W. F. Hennings.

Varying Weight of Brain.
The average weight of the male brain is from 40 to 50 ounces; that of the average female brain about five ounces less. The ratio of the brain weight to that of the body is the same in both sexes; consequently the difference of weight in the brain of males and females is due to the lesser body weight in women and not to inferior cerebral development. Thackeray and Currier had brains weighing 54 and 58 ounces, respectively, while the brain of Gambetta weighed but 41 ounces, or less than that of the average boy of seven. The brain of Byron weighed 60 ounces and that of Dante but 50. Simms found an idiot boy whose brain weighed 59 ounces and an ignorant man who had a brain weighing 78 ounces.

Tree Made Lot Valuable.
"Not long ago," says Fred A. Manchester, one of Cleveland's best known real estate men, "I had an assignment to sell a certain number of lots in a new Cleveland allotment. In this allotment there was exactly one tree. The lots ranged in price from $250 to $400, but for the lot on which was located this particular tree the price was $500. And do you know that this one little tree made this one little lot more valuable by half than any of the rest? Folks would buy a lot on a side street, but nobody objected when asked to pay $500 for this lot away out of the ordinary run of travel, simply because there was a big shade tree in the back yard."—Cleveland Leader.

Pleasant Praise.
A local painter spent three months on a painting. He spent a good deal of money on models, but the finished product justified all his expenditures and all his time. Everybody told him so, when his picture was exhibited. Everybody but one. The lady whose opinion he valued most was the one he took to the exhibition with him. "I can hardly wait," she bubbled. "Which is your picture?" "This one," he told her—and waited. She studied it critically. "What is it called?" she wanted to know. "Wood Nymphs." "How silly of me to ask! They're so natural. Why, anybody would think they were really made of wood!"—Cleveland Plain-Dealer.

Foxes Made Bold by Hunger.
Foxes seem to be unusually plentiful in the Blackmore vale this year and several instances of their remarkable boldness have occurred of late. A few days ago Reynard had the hardihood actually to pay a visit to the kennels at Charlton Horethorne, a village in a sheltered valley, in broad daylight, between the Sherborne and Wincanton, and carry off a much prized cock belonging to the huntsman. Apparently the marauder had been lying up in a hedgerow close to the poultry yard and his tracks were easily traced in the muddy lane by which he safely beat his retreat with his capture.—London Standard.

Maine Nature Fakery.
Maine is a great state for "nature fakery." The Kennebec Journal puts out the following: "Obed F. Stackpole of Biddeford discovered on entering his henhouse a few mornings ago that a fine black hen of his flock had committed suicide. He found the hen hanging suspended by her neck, and her head slipped through a loop in a cord, which was attached overhead in the center of the coop. The cord which figured in the event was one by means of which Mr. Stackpole had previously suspended a cabbage just above the floor and a small loop was left in the end to which the stump of the cabbage had been fastened."

Wifely Economy.
After weeks of waiting and longing for the sport, rods, reels, gaff, creel—everything was in readiness for a week's trout-fishing. The young wife, smiling joyously, hurried into the room, extending toward her husband some sticky, speckled papers. "For goodness sake!" he exclaimed, "what on earth are you doing with those old fly-papers?" "I saved them for you from last summer," she answered. "You know you said you always had to buy flies when you went fishing!"

Good Examples of "Bulls."
At an inquest a doctor once stated that "two of the deceased's injuries were fatal, but fortunately the others were not." An Irish paper goes one better and describes how a "deaf man was run down by a tram and killed. He was injured in a similar way some years ago."

Peculiarities of Nations.
No nation loves nature so much as the German. The Italian travels to get somewhere, the German to travel. The country walk for its own sake is a German discovery. The Englishman's ideal is a park, the German's a wood, and the Frenchman loves his boulevard.—Hamburger Zeitung

Obtrusive Sarah

"My goodness!" said everybody when Sarah Seaney made her appearance at the summer resort hotel. People had said "My goodness!" at Sarah Seaney so many times in her eighteen years of existence that she had grown used to the remark. The only real bright spot in the situation was that her parents had not named her Lily or nicknamed her Tiny in her helpless infancy.

Sarah was large of bone and nearly six feet tall. It was her amazing length and broadness and massiveness which startled people into alarmed comment. In spite of her prominent cheekbones and expansive mouth there was an attractiveness about Sarah's face. It may have been its healthy freshness and the brightness of her eyes, which held a perpetual laugh at the world in general. It took the older people to appreciate this, for those of her own age looked at Sarah and, because she was so different from the stock pattern, declared she was impossible.

At the dances the college boys circled widely around Sarah and picked out the girls whose heads came only to their shoulders. Youthful masochism is strong on the clinging vine idea. Sarah, in her yards and yards of expensive lingerie gown, sat out the waltzes and two-steps beside her mother, beaming pleasantly and apparently enjoying herself hugely. The girls took this as a direct affront. They said Sarah was "so masculine."

Further, she had an irritating habit of going on long walks by herself and returning with armfuls of wild field flowers and a cheerful countenance. Her practical ostracism seemed not to make the remotest impression upon her.

Lancy Cobb, the only young man whose eyes were not on a lower level than Sarah's, tried to break the boycott. When the girls set their faces against asking her to the beach picnic he was indignant and tried to make it up to Sarah by talking to her. She regarded him interestedly, smiled a little and did not seem impressed. But she was very pleasant to Lancy after that.

"I like that girl!" he told the others. "Why don't you drag her in instead of shelving her?"

Agnes Simmons set her rosebud mouth in a straight line at this Agnes was built on the Dresden china pattern and Lancy had been her special property. She was dainty and fragile enough to allure mightily and this revelation of the unexpected tangents taken by men both surprised and angered her. The anger was all directed at Sarah Seaney.

Agnes was roused to active defense late one evening when the crowd, wandering out on the end of the pier after the dance, found Sarah Seaney occupying the best bench alone and gazing appreciatively at the big, full moon shining across the lake. She spoke to the others quite as though they were her dearest friends, instead of persons who had perpetually snubbed her.

"Isn't the water lovely with that shimmer upon it?" she asked.

"Great!" agreed Lancy Cobb, sitting down on the bench beside her.

"If you like it so well," Agnes Simmons said to Sarah, with instant rebellion in her heart, "why don't you take a moonlight swim?"

Agnes could swim a half mile and was proud of it.

Sarah smiled at Agnes silently. She was on her feet by now, for she would not seem to appropriate Lancy. "Oh, I don't know," she answered, meditatively watching the glistening waves.

"Go on!" Agnes taunted sweetly. She might have been lovingly urging Sarah to help herself to chocolates. "I dare you to jump in—now!"

A little silence fell on the rest. Sarah, like those who had danced, was clad in expensive and fragile clothes. She gave Agnes a long look. A little of her happy expression faded as she understood the antagonistic gaze that was fixed upon her.

"Would you do it?" she asked quietly.

Agnes laughed. "Oh, I'm not afraid of the water," she said, with infinite condescension. "I swim, you know. I didn't think you were afraid—you're so big!"

A long arm shot out from Sarah's side and twined about the slender form of Agnes Simmons and then with a great plunge Sarah Seaney dropped from the end of the pier, taking her tormentor with her. With an inarticulate cry, Lancy Cobb jumped after them.

As he dragged himself and Sarah, dripping and straining, to shore he pushed the hair back anxiously from her face. She laughed.

"I'm all right!" she gasped. "But I had to sink, for I can't swim a stroke, you know!"

"Then, why—" began Lancy Cobb, in horror.

"She dared me," explained Sarah, placidly wringing out her skirts. "I knew you'd save me. I then she laughed out loud as she watched Agnes Simmons scrambling up the side of the pier. "I think she was surprised," she added, comfortably.

"You're all right!" broke out Lancy Cobb in heartfelt admiration as he marched her toward the hotel.

Among the Theatres

THE PALACE—CHARLEROI

An exhibition of a rendezvous of the United States battleships in New York harbor in the Pathe Weekly Bulletin at the Palace Theatre this week not only gave a splendid view of these monsters of the deep, but also showed the application of a product of the Monongahela valley in their construction. This was the masts of the vessels which, instead of being a single spar or timber, as formerly, are now made of seamless tubing units of which many parts compose a whole. This tubing is made for the most part by the Pittsburgh Steel company at its Monessen plant, the contract for materials for battleship masts being an important one in keeping the plant going. The new seamless tubing masts—made at Monessen—are stronger than a solid spar. Half of the former could be shot away without endangering the structure, as each unit sustains its own weight. Other strong photoplays both grave and gay were shown as usual. Manager Barnhart gets the first releases of the most of the best and standard films on the market, which, being censored by the National Board insures good and clean exhibitions, many of which present striking moral object lessons. Miss Helen Atwill has a splendid repertoire of vocal selections this week specially adapted to her charming voice, the renditions of which are not the least of the entertaining features of the Palace.

THE STAR—CHARLEROI

"The Settler's Wife," "Society Hobos," "The Indian Rustler," "Mutt and Jeff and the Black Hand," "A Narrow Escape," "Colleen Bawn," "The Lost Kerkchief," and "Uncle Peter's Ruse," were the titles of some of the photoplays of the repertoire of the Star Theatre this week. The "Mutt and Jeff" pictures, which is a special feature of the Star, was unusually interesting this week, and

pleased the big audiences that greeted it immensely. With the approach of the holiday season the matinees at 2 o'clock each day are proving a big attraction for out of town patrons.

THE ALVIN—PITTSBURG

On Monday evening, November 27 at the Alvin Theatre, Pittsburgh we are to have the pleasure of welcoming Margaret Anglin, one of the most distinguished actresses before the American public.

Under the direction of Messrs. Liebler & Co., Miss Anglin will appear in a new and original comedy, entitled "Green Stockings," by A. E. W. Mason. The story laid in rural England relates to a family of four girls, daughters of William Faraday, a wealthy gentleman. There is an old custom in England, and still practised, by which unmarried girls wear green stockings at the weddings of their sisters. It has been the fate of Celia Faraday to don them at the weddings of two sisters and when she is face to face with the engagement of another of them and the possibility of another pair of green stockings Celia goaded by the jocular insinuations of her friends as to the possibility of green stockings becoming permanent articles of her wardrobe, conceived a plan which she hoped would frustrate the disaster, and silence her friends.

How her plan involves her in a maze of difficulty, out of which she is rescued by a stranger, is said to offer an amusing comedy, added to which is a charming and graceful love story.

Miss Anglin, who plays the role of Celia Faraday, is provided with an original part that enables her to display her adaptable and versatile art. Messrs Liebler & Co have engaged a company of well known players, among whom are H. Reeves-Smith, Stanley Dark, Arthur Lawrence, Ruth Holt Boucicault and Maude Granger.

Cotton Crepes.
Cotton crepe, plain and embroidered, is popular for flightgowns, drawers, skirts, corset covers and the combinations. It is trimmed with valenciennes, cluny or barmen lace. As crepe lingerie needs no ironing, only a careful smoothing and stretching with the hands, it will appeal to the woman who is traveling and to the boarding girl, to whom the summer laundry is a puzzling item. It is doubtful if the crepe skirt will become such a favorite, since most women will cling to the smoothly ironed skirt, but for the above-named articles it certainly will be most satisfactory.

To Cool Ship's Magazines.

Considerable attention continues to be given to the cooling of magazines on board naval vessels. Various types of refrigerating apparatus have been examined by the ordnance experts. On the new battleships authorized at the last session of congress there will be installed six refrigerating machines, four of which will be used for cooling the magazines.

Mixed.

An old lady and her daughter stopped outside the Lyceum theatre to study the announcement concerning the pantomime. "Who's the gal as plays the lovier?" asked the old lady. "Jane Eyre," replied the daughter. "Jane Eyre!" exclaimed the old lady in amazement. "Well, what part, for goodness sake, does East Lynne play?"—London Opinion.

The Personal View.

"What do you think about the idea of putting a light on your vehicle?" "It wouldn't be a bit of use to the boss I always drive to town," replied Farmer Cornstossel. "He's blind."

Floating Schools in Chile.

The Chilean maritime province of Entre Rios has equipped two floating schools to enable the residents of its islands to obtain an education.

EFFICIENCY

How Many Know How to Keep it at Par.

Thousands; yes tens of thousands of men grow old 10 years too soon.

If you are a man and realize that your efficiency is on the wane and that you are losing money and happiness in consequence, get a 50 cent box of Mi-o-na stomach tablets today and take two after or with each meal for three days; then take one with each meal regularly until you feel well and vigorous.

Mi-o-na stomach tablets disinfect, tone up, restore elasticity to the stomach and intestinal canal and end indigestion. They do more: they increase the nutrition of the body and in case of nerve exhaustion, sleeplessness, night sweats, bad dreams or any condition that requires a restorative they act with astonishing rapidity. They can be found at Piper Bros. and helpful druggists the world over.

should be kept up as much as possible. Nothing is so good for this purpose as Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron preparation without oil. Miss A. H. Ralston of Mt. Vernon, N. Y., says: "As a tonic, I think Vinol is excellent and especially for an old person. A condition of general debility which had lasted for months yielded promptly to Vinol and this gives me the fullest confidence in it."

Vinol is not only pleasant to take but always agrees with the stomach and we guarantee it absolutely. Piper Bros. Druggists, Charleroi, Pa.

PLANS ARE DISCUSSED

Sunday School Workers of Charleroi District Get Together

The officers of Charleroi district, No. 1, of the Washington County Sunday School Association were in session Thursday evening hearing reports from the various superintendents of the district and also making additional plans for the coming convention next June. All the members were present with the exception of two, and these were from out-of-town. The district cabinet discussed their plans over the luncheon tables in the Busy Bee Restaurant at 6 o'clock.

Prof. I. T. Daniel was invited to prepare and conduct a Grand Concert to be given the evening before the convention. This, it is expected will be a great event for Charleroi. Those in charge of this district's work are thoroughly alive to their work, and are laying their plans for Charleroi to have the banner convention of all the gatherings ever held in the county.

The next meeting of the officers will be held shortly after the holiday season, when all the superintendents and pastors of the district will be invited to a miniature convention in one of the churches.

SOUTHSIDE WILL PLAY HERE TONIGHT

Southside's superior five which is ripping things over the Central league will appear here tonight in a struggle with the Charleroi team. During the last three days Capt. Adams has had his team practicing here and is ready for the Pittsburghers Southside was beaten Thursday night at Uniontown. Smith the big and fine Uniontown center played his last game on the home floor, leaving soon for his home in Connecticut.

Real Wisdom.

It is far better to plan a rose in a man's coat than to send twenty wreaths to his funeral.—E. H. Manley.

Real Wealth.

To be content with what we possess is the greatest and most secure riches.—Cicero.

Brain Drill With Fingers.

Brain drill with the fingers is the latest recommendation to those who would be efficient. It is not a system of message that is recommended, but simply the regular use of the hands. The knots, sew, do fretwork, anything and everything, in fact, that calls for manual skill you want to have an active, resourceful and versatile brain, people are told. The truth of this statement is said to lie in the fact that in every manual act the hand is directed by the brain. Every act reacts upon the brain, strengthening and stimulating it.

Among the Passers

George Smith, the Stanford Conn. man who has the reputation of being the best center in the league as well as one of the most popular players, failing to get a leave of absence from the government position to which he has been appointed will play his last game with Uniontown on Saturday night at Southside. Bill Powell of Southside will attempt to fill Smith's shoes when the later leaves.

Jack Albright, the Uniontown writer is responsible for the statement that the schedule is so much mixed up that if you would present a copy of it at a Chinese laundry you would receive your laundry.

Kammer, the Connellsville star got 12 field goals in the Connellsville-Washington game: this week Cavanaugh, Connellsville's center, tried to follow suit but only got 10.

Perat's Washington bunch like the plan of a Green county railroad looks nice on paper, but also like it, hasn't a very encouraging system of getting anywhere.

Southside is threatening with defeat. In basketball threats are about as much good as Turkey's claims for Tripoli at the present time.

Brady seems to be Washington's star. This Brady is the same chap that was supposed to play with the Charleroi team and failed to show up. Everybody wishes him good luck.

Force of Habit.

A United States district attorney, at a banquet, once spoke of honesty: "Are we coming to such a pass that our ideas of an honest man will correspond to the idea of old Hiram Strood? Hiram Strood for the seventh time was about to fail. He called in an expert accountant to disentangle his books. The accountant, after two days' work, announced to Hiram that he would be able to pay his creditors four cents on the dollar. At this news the old man looked vexed: 'Heretofore,' he said, frowning, 'I have always paid ten cents on the dollar.' A virtuous and benevolent expression spread over his face. 'And I will do so now,' he resumed. 'I will make up the difference out of my own pocket.'—Blue Bull.

Great Minds Not Exempt.

In Tolstoy there seems to be the same contradiction between the natural man and the ascetic moralist that pertains to lesser minds, and in a certain instance, cited by Aymer Maude in his "Life of Tolstoy," this mental elasticity makes for humor. When Sarah Bernhardt visited Moscow the great man delivered himself of a crushing condemnation of the contemporary theater and of the falsity of the dramatic art in general. After a momentous silence one of his guests admitted, somewhat timorously, that he was going to see the French actress that evening. Tolstoy's face suddenly lighted up with a good-humored smile. "Do you know," he said, "I am awfully sorry I'm not going."—Youth's Companion.

The Inevitable.

An old man who had lived all his life on the moors of Scotland and had never seen a railway, was persuaded by his two sons to accompany them on a trip to Sheffield. Arriving at the station, the old man was terrified at the sight of the train running into the station and exclaimed: "Let's go back, lads, or something will happen." But his sons hustled him into a carriage, where he sat looking terribly upset, and muttering to himself, "something will happen." The climax was reached when the train dashed into a tunnel, the old man crying out, "I knew something would happen, I'm struck blind."

Washington county, almost in a direct continuing line to the branch to be run from Besco, a route has been laid out. Tracks already run from Monongahela to Marianna with a branch off to Cokeburg.

Part of the plan would be to standardize the Washington and Waynesburg road. All the proposed developments would have a direct important bearing upon the future developments of the Monongahela valley and Greene county and it seems as though the Pennsylvania system after all the talk of the B. & O. and other lines getting on the ground first will take the initiative.

The Key to Power.

No one has ever reached the limits of the personal power that his own life may have. Here is the glory and the challenge of the spiritual life. Physical health and power has its limitations and its ending; when one has attained to a certain degree here the best that he can hope to do is to maintain it for a few years and then to see it drop away from him. Not so spiritual health and power. It can increase up to the day of one's death—and then be released to greater things. The theme of stirring thought is this: "The always multiplying power of obedience to God's will." What a dynamic thought to lodge in the lives of those who are at the threshold of mature life! If we would put an end to personal power, disorder. Obedience pushes the limitations of power ever farther away.

Bottomless Bottle.

In order to overcome the difficulty of cleansing a milk bottle thoroughly, says the Scientific American, a "bottomless bottle" has recently been invented. The device consists of a tube formed like a bottle, but open at each end, so that all parts of the interior are readily accessible. When the bottle is to be used, a paraffin paper disk is fitted into the larger end of the tube to serve as a bottom, and is held securely by means of stiff spring metal strips. After the bottle has been filled it is closed in the usual way by means of a paraffined paper cap. The caps and bottoms, being made of paper, may be discarded after use and new ones may be employed with every fresh use of the bottle.
